SOUL OF THE SHARTY

The most important aspect of culture is identity. We must know who we are if the 'sharty is to maintain itself, and we must create safeguards and stopgaps against the forces of decay and cultural rot.

This space we have created for ourselves, from the ashes of the 'kway, is to be cherished. The space we have made is our own, with our own language, our own culture, and most importantly our own memetics and artworks. One can easily see the effects of taking this message lightly, and it lies on the 'cuck itself: /b/. THE SHARTY SHALL NOT FALL, and in order to keep it flourishing, we must take care to avoid falling into the pit. The lessons of the past echo around us, blinking in the rain like neon, bright, beaming into our eyes. These lessons are so hard to miss, yet so easy to forget.

Porn MUST be kept to a minimum, used only when it benefits the memetic ecosphere of the Party, lest we end up like /b/. Have you not seen their catty? Go there yourself, see the vast wasteland.

We must also take care to avoid the bitterness that has wrapped itself around the spine of 'cuck. You see it in every thread, every new meme, and every 'cap. The 4troons have become old and bitter, and to avoid losing ourselves into the vast globohomo pit, we MUST maintain our childish, almost whimsical nature.

Are we not all 'teens? Is not the summer of our youth neverending, here, on the greatest party the internet has ever seen? Keep the 'jaks flowing boys! Coal, gem, dust, brimstone. All is one. Love your fellow 'teen, and have fun out there. And someday, maybe soon, maybe even tomorrow, we shall create the greatest gem the 'net has ever seen, and be claimed by the annals of history.

Has Kuz's Datamining gone too Far?

For those who are unaware, the 'Sharty has fallen victim to a massive amount of Mr. Beast and Nick Avocado spam.

Jannies in response deleted all the threads in /soy/, including many containing over 100 posts... These included many large raid threads, the "ylyl" and "zellig" banner threads, the large Brimstone winter thread, and many more.

Jannies continued to ignore this spam and instead implemented the worst changes to the website yet, /soy/ was limited to three pages, recaptcha, which is owned by Google, was added and Cloudflare was added. Why? I don't know - maybe this is some dumb way Kuz thinks he is preventing spam? All Kuz is truly doing here is showing his lack of regard for 'teens privacy as Cloudflare and Google are notorious for datamining.

But what if, that is what Kuz wants? Some soyteens believe that the “'beast” and “'cado" spam were a false flag done by Kuz or other Jannies to give Kuz a REASON to implement more datamining features. You may think this is stupid, but Kuz has shown he wants every last bit of data he can collect. For instance, the new rule that bans the use of TOR and VPNs. Why would Kuz want to ban these? People can ban evade using mobile data anyway so there is pretty much no reason to ban them. Plus, you may say "but this is to prevent 'p", but Kuz and Kolyma don't TRULY care about 'P, they ran an entire image board for Lolicon before (loliboard), do you think 'p is something they actually care about? Perhaps, 'p is just another excuse they use to make no-one question their new datamining. Only time will tell and we will continue to keep you updated on these happenings as they progress!

A Grain of Salt

by shithead

Okay chuds, time to increase the sodium of your diet. In this, the first issue of Grain of Salt, we're going to be discussing the fat pink elephant in the room. As you all know, Kuz took a giant shart all over the sharty yesterday and fricked up the UI big time. Most teens hate it long time. Will the sharty survive make its time? Only time will tell. Well I can tell the time, teens, and it's Gay O'Clock over on the party, where the 'Chud' default namefield was removed at around 6pm Burger Standard Time yesterday evening. Simultaneously the post number prefix was changed from No.' to 'Nº,' which in this reporter's opinion, looks gay as hell.

And Hell is pretty gay, on account of homosexuals get sent there.

Of course there was a backlash from the chuds immediately, and the heat was on the tardbabies in charge of this demoralizing decision, this ill-thought idea, this pretty shitty plan to change things back. Within the hour they backtracked and returned the Chud namefield, but with one caveat: it has been turned the color of soulless dusty coal brimstone vantablack. Now the Cobsons of you out there may enjoy this niggerization of our name, perhaps you even grew a little stiffy upon the realization that Chud got Blacked. But you degenerate sluts for the BBC are few and far, and generally between--between the cheeks of a man that is. Faggots.

Your reporter was on the scene to witness these events unfold in real time and I'm here to give you the full scoop on the matter. The real story. You see, I am an ESPer of sorts, and I can detect the janny waves coming through the ether like estrogen bubbles through $proke. I perceived a vision, teens, and saw with psychic clarity the janny trannies screaming and lurching in a general state of total confusion, draining their tampon tea and smacking their yellow dogheads against the mirror of their untidy bedrooms. In that mirror they saw the image of a man, yes a man--and the truth of their identity shocked them to the point that they declared war on the concept of identity itself.

Perhaps they believed that without an identity they would no longer possess a gender. Perhaps they believed they could alter the basic facts of our species. Perhaps they were concept-drunk, and in a supreme act of hubris attempted to break free from their territorializations and ride the lines of flight into a 'becoming,' as trannies would now regurgitate in a bastardization of Deleuze...

But tldr for all you ADD tiktokers reading, the janny trannies got so bootyblasted that they could never be women that they attempted to commit identity assassination on 'Chud'—the ur-identity of the sharty itself. Teens, troons, chuds and jaks, do not be fooled by this paper-thin excuse of "distinguishing ourselves from other imageboards," as post No.1963000 put it. This ironic goal comes at the price of our very no-sex-having essence. Not only won't we distinguish ourselves from 4Cuck and the Frognigger Frens through this action, we instead risk becoming another amorphous mass just like them—just like the bloated pale manface of a troon hiding behind every anime avatar.

Many chuds are calling to RESTORE the green namefield, and revoke this "niggerbrained decision", to quote post No. 1963113, excuse me, №1963113, using this faggoty ass icon with no spacing between it and the number thereafter, which almost seems like an intentional psychic attack on the autists of the sharty and surely is one. They've been planning this operation in their jannytrannydiscord IRC bunker for decades, I wager. Imagine it, these troons sitting around a smoky room, circular table with a map of the Chans in the center, and every one of these titty-pill-popping goontroons plotting the demise of the idea of 'chud' itself.

Teens, I say this will not and cannot stand. And if the jannies think they can commit >actual genocide on the chuds, they have another thing coming. Maybe we can't breed, but we chuds do know how to shoot up a Walmart with 3D printed guns built with plans downloaded off the darknet Russian Telegram that hacked the 2016 US Presidential election. The jannies ought to be shaking in their diapers.
