Good morning, Mr. Greer.

I was surprised to see the below motion from you, which appears to seek discovery but does not comply with DUCivR 37-1. That rule requires that if there is a discovery dispute, you are required to meet and confer with me prior to filing a motion.

To the extent that your motion does not seek discovery, it appears not to comport with DUCivR 7-1 (a), which requires your motion to be accompanied by a memorandum setting forth the authority upon which you rely. I am unable to respond to a motion that does not cite to any applicable legal authority (rules of civil procedure, court decisions, etc.).

I therefore write to ask whether you intend to meet the requirements of DUCivR 37-1 or 7-1 (a), including the specific requirements that you provide three available dates for a conference and the requirement that you cite the applicable legal authority to which we are responding. If you intend to engage in any meet and confer regarding any discovery dispute (and we note that we have not received any discovery requests from you), we would be happy for you to withdraw your motion and re-file after the conference is over.

Merry Christmas,
