

TRIGGER WARNING (Sensitive topics regarding sexual allegations)

From 2016 to present day, concerns about me have circulated the internet and mutated over time. I've carefully written this concise document to bring clarity to them all, take accountability and stop this game of telephone. Thank you for taking the time to read it.

Snapchat screenshots from the 2018 Nathorix callout show a conversation between me and a girl from Roblox who I knew since 2014 (when I was 17 and she was 15). At the beginning of 2015, she seemed to be showing interest in me and I responded in kind. I did not pause to reconsider the nature of our relationship when I turned 18 in March of 2015. That is entirely on me. There is no excuse for it and I am so sorry for not considering the updated age gap at that point. If she ever reads this: I know I've said it multiple times before but I'm still very sorry. That was a time of my youth that I look back on with disgust and regret. I should have had the foresight and sense to cut off these conversations before my 18th birthday. I never have nor will I ever be attracted to minors and since then, my actions have reflected that. I also have never had any physical contact with her other than a consensual hug at the 2016 Roblox Developer Conference, where I hugged everyone I knew.

After completing my internship with Roblox in late 2016 while on a celebratory vacation, I had found out our conversations were leaked to the public and I was painted as a pedophile. Most of the messages were from when I was 18 without context to all our prior conversations. Several Roblox drama channels picked up on the story. There were a lot of threats on twitter to which I shared that I would take the time to reflect on my actions and I came home to better myself. Since then, I've been extra cautious as to who I dated. That's where this incident ended.

From 2017 – 2018 I asked out and/or dated several women in my age group or older. Some of these relationships lasted a few months and some of them lasted shorter. Reflecting back, many of my advances were inconsiderate at best and concerning at worst. It was clear I was not ready for a relationship and made many women feel very uncomfortable. It was in late 2018 that those women collaborated with my friend Swiblet to create a callout in order to better myself and stop these worrisome patterns. I once again am very sorry for being so careless during that time and appreciate all those involved for later reconciling with me on those issues.

Swiblet's post was picked up by Nathorix (aka Nattie Forsyth) and weaponized in an "exposed" video. Nathorix had twisted it to portray all of the adult women I dated as "young girls" while confusing it to the event related to the 2016 Roblox incident. These altered stories quickly circulated the Roblox community and are the primary reason for the continuous resurfacing of misinformation on the internet. One example is when I wore my internship roommate's fursuit tail backwards as a joke with the text "My tail. You like it?" which in hindsight I could see being interpreted as a sexual advance, but I genuinely was just joking around. Nathorix used this as leverage in the video and the furry community (which I am not part of) believed their claims.

I would also like to address my past association with the game "Pokémon Brick Bronze" (now known as Loomian Legacy) on Roblox. It is widely believed that due to these allegations of pedophilia, I was removed from the project. However this is NOT the case and is once again a lie from Nathorix used to strengthen the callout video. In 2017 I was creating my own fan game called "Pokémon Stories". When the lead developer of this project (Lando64000) was told about this, he claimed that it was competition and harshly fired me from the project. Here are those screenshots from Skype.

 Well yeah. I'm not going to work with someone trying to compete with us and take our players. You may not see it that way, but thats what would happen. Not that I believe you would ever make it far enough into your project because you're taking on something huge 7:37 PM

Landon Brick Bronze means the world to me. How could you say that?
I've been here for 55 songs 😞 7:38 PM

 How could you come out of nowhere and try to steal my players? 7:39 PM

I never saw it as stealing your players. I didn't even want to make this until after your game was finished. 7:39 PM

 -- 7:39 PM

I've noticed you don't think a lot before making big decisions
At least, you don't think about much aside from what you want
You clearly have not considered how I would feel about this
Nor have you doen ANY research on how difficult it would be to make a pokemon game
You barely know pokemon battling
And suddenly you want to make a full blown pokemon game
Like where the heck did that come from?
I think what you are doing is getting way to excited over someones reaction to something you made them and suddenly without any research you are like "well i'll just make a pokemon game, it cant be that hard"...

I'm honestly speechless right now. 7:42 PM

 Dude 7:42 PM

I'm your jiminy cricket right now
If you want to go through with your project, ima cut ties
Don't be sad about it
Follow your passion if its what you really want to do
But understand that I'm not about to work with my competitors ok?
I cant fund you if you are taking my money and using it to create competition with my game
Which reminds me I need to pay you for that arcade music real fasty
K there ya go

Everything I've done in this project was because how much I loved it. 7:44 PM

 Ok enough of that 7:45 PM

We're past the emotional bonds. This is down to business bud

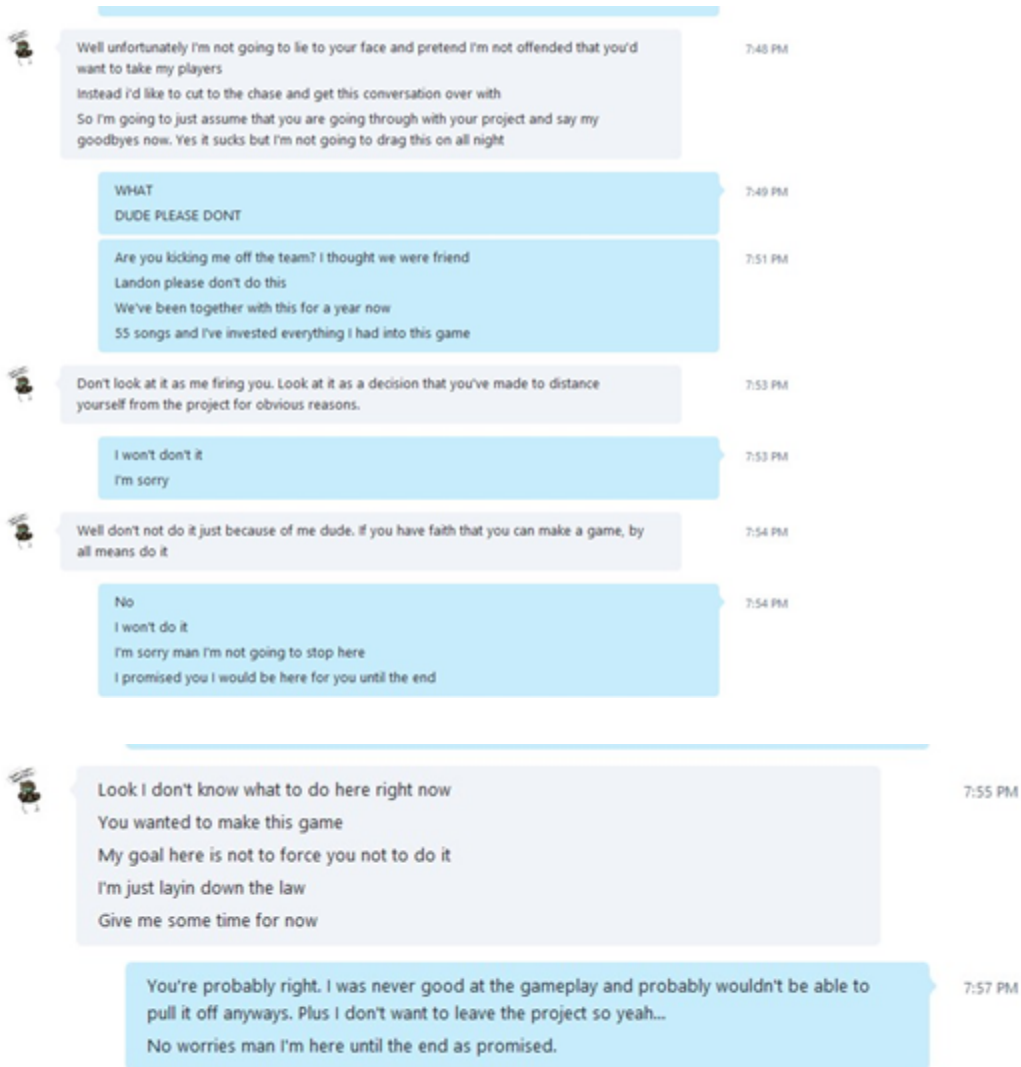

I hate business. It soils everything. 7:46 PM

 We would probably have been good friends if we weren't in business together. 7:46 PM

I feel like I'm not talking to Landon anymore. 7:46 PM

 But honestly, lets just set friendships aside and do what we need for now to make business 7:46 PM

I thought you would be supportive and kind and now I'm torn between pursuing something I'm passionate about or being kicked off the brick bronze team. 7:48 PM

Shortly after this conversation, I vented on twitter without mentioning any names. However, he picked up that it was about him. Here is all I could find of that tweet, sorry for the low quality.

This was Lando's response leading to my firing.

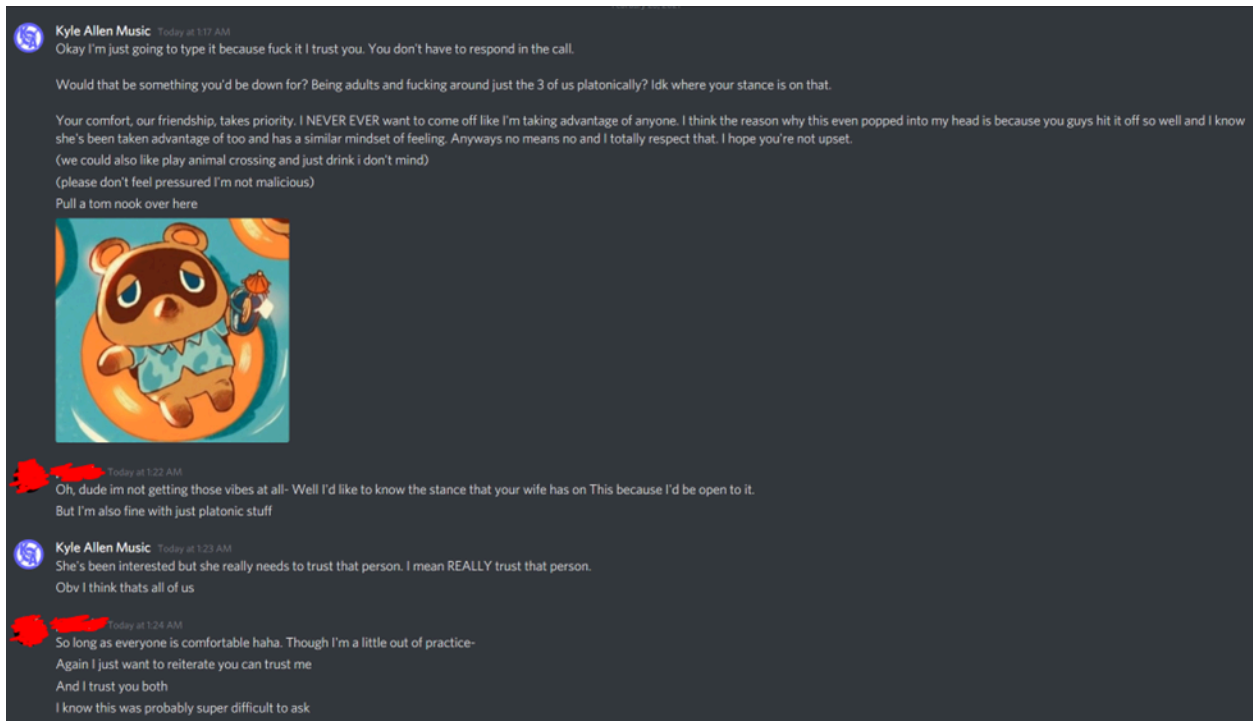

On second thought, were just gonna let you go. Your dumb ass can't go 5 seconds without posting dumb shit on twitter after an argument. If you're dumb enough to insult me on public social media that I can view, then I'm not going to bother giving you a spot on the team anymore. You actually managed to screw up your second chance dude. I'm so sick of your lust for attention and drama.

I don't know what world you're living in, but you're out of your fucking mind.
You don't see me shit posting after an argument
Grow the fuck up

Lando paid me for the remaining tracks I did for him, then hired both my friends at the time to write music for him instead. I have not spoken to Lando, his brother, or the team since.

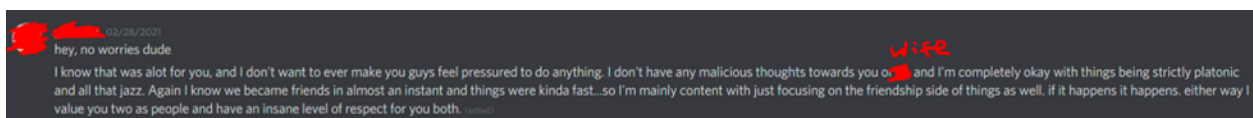

Since 2018 I met the love of my life who has endured through all these hardships with me hand in hand. I started getting professional counseling to learn how to better myself. My partner and I had a healthy and happy relationship and in 2020 we got married followed by moving into our first home.

In 2020-2021 I was working for a creator named Shavs Media Productions. I would do voice work and music for her channel on occasion. In this server my wife and I really hit it off with someone and we became friends. They were 19, my wife was 22 and I was 24. After some time of hanging out together in Shavs server, we got comfortable with each other. Sadly during this time I was struggling with alcohol to cope with my anxiety and I relapsed in my progress. I had asked if this person would be interested in consensually fooling around with me and my wife. I made sure to preface that I know they and my wife were taken advantage of in the past by horrible people and that I didn't want to trigger that. They said they were okay with it. Here is the proof of this conversation.

For a short time we were platonically fooling around. During that time with how close we were, they also were sharing their struggles with how bad their computer is and how hard it is to work. So we offered one of our laptops. We really just wanted to help them out the best we could as we cared about them.

Down the road I ended up taking a step back after feeling uncomfortable. I was also having feelings of jealousy with my wife which told me I wasn't ready for something like this. However, I couldn't decide on my feelings and therefore kept jumping between being okay with it and not being okay with it. Once I realized my indecisiveness put a lot of stress on everyone, I let them know once and for all I'd like to go back to being just friends. Below is their reply.

They were super kind and understanding. We went back to being friends for a good while until we stopped hearing from them. That's when we found out they told a few friends (including Shavs) about how they ended up feeling. We didn't know that their feelings changed to negative and a few of their friends went out of their way to try and publicly make a spectacle of the situation. It was at this point both Shavs and Swiblet offered to get all of us in call to peacefully resolve everything. The 4-hour long resolution with all 5 of us was recorded, distributed to everyone in the call and we all happily signed an NDA to ensure the future of Shavs current project didn't get messed up from all this. I would also like to mention the NDA was an idea we all felt was a good idea at the time. All members were sober and present with proof in that 4 hour long call. Nobody was pressured into doing so and it was simply for peace of mind. We all left the situation with clarity and agreed it was resolved peacefully. That was our understanding.

I would like to note that in light of the recent 2024 SMP drama in regard to her management, I have been fully supportive of everyone involved and do not condone Shavs actions as much of my work was also affected. I have never been affiliated with Shavs Media Productions outside of being an occasional freelance voice actor and composer for her channel. I have cut ties with Shavs as of late 2022.

Since leaving SMP, focusing on my marriage and enjoying my work, life has been significantly better. I have received continuous professional counseling, quit drinking alcohol for good, focused on my creative career, worked with my PCP on medication and surrounded myself with incredible people who bring out the best in me. You know who you are and I'm so grateful. The last couple years I've made incredible strides and am confident that future problems of this nature will NEVER happen again. I am tremendously sorry to anyone I may have hurt during this journey of emotional growth. My lovely wife, my fantastic team, and I are all ready to embrace a bright future together filled with creativity. Thank you to those who read this document in its entirety. I hope it answers any questions you may have had and brings you a sense of peace as well.
