

A final response

This is my final response to all the drama that has happened over the last 24 hours. I did something bad, but a lot of the other stuff I am being unfairly slandered over and the commentary community is not living up to what it should be. I urge you to have an open mind here.

After I post this I'm going to leave the internet for a while because I need to reflect on some stuff I did, however I can't allow unfounded rumors such as me being a pedophile or me willingly looking for cp to be spread by such large and respected figures, not to mention my former friends.

The friends' nudes

The only terrible thing I did was saying "yes" to Luci asking me if I wanted to see my friends' nudes (which is still completely terrible). I never shared any myself or directly asked for any. Also, all the nudes were from people my age or older. I deeply regret this more than anything I've ever done in my life and I will never forgive myself for this. I apologized for this in the document and apologized to each of the aforementioned friends personally, of which most forgave me. I have no excuses for this, and you're free to want me out of the community forever if this is the reason why. Like I said I am going to leave the internet for a while to reflect on what I did with this, because it is legitimately fucked up I did that.

FBI CP shit/pedo allegation

As I said in the document, after Luci was constantly asking me to see a video of CP, I said yes ONLY to report it to the FBI. I filed an FBI tip on him and told him to delete it off discord right after, hopefully he is arrested. I never saved anything, I sent simply a screenshot to the FBI. I was under the impression you needed that level of proof to report someone. I also thought it was okay since I messaged Bunk about it and he told me it wasn't illegal if I was simply reporting it and would delete it after. After I released the document, Aiden told me I didn't need that level of proof to report someone, I honestly was not aware of this. Aiden knows about the cp report laws and stuff, I don't. I don't know anything about what you're supposed to do with circumstances like that, I've never tried to report someone before or anything. It was an honest mistake, I legitimately thought you needed to have that level of proof to file a report on someone for cp. I may be stupid but I had the best of intentions.

If you don't think I could be stupid enough or do that little amount of research for this to happen, just think about all the times I got huge problems wrong in research for my videos like the Logan Paul video, or just earlier when I accidentally listed a bunch of my friends for no reason because of a misunderstanding over the word "spread". I am a fucking dumbass and fucked the investigation up by doing too little research, but there is NO evidence I had malicious intent. There is NO evidence I just wanted to see the CP or that I'm a pedophile (like many people who I used to have respect for are saying). These rumors are blatantly false. There is no proof to back them up but people continue to push for them. I hated seeing what I ended up seeing, it scarred me but I did it because I thought it would put a rapist in jail. I had the best of intentions and why think I'm a horrible person if I had the best intentions while doing this?

In conclusion

I'm 100% wrong for the 'seeing my friends nudes' thing, but that's the only thing that makes me a bad person. Anyone calling me a pedophile or saying things like I "saved CP" or "was asking for CP" or "wanted to look at CP" is spreading false allegations and taking things wildly out of context. Yes I'm a really shitty friend, but stretching this into some sort of pedo allegation is pathetic. I stopped someone from getting raped and I made sure the FBI is investigating someone who admitted to having folders of CP. I admitted to being a bad friend, but most of the reactions here have been way out of proportion. Also don't trust Aiden 'cause he posts discord messages cropped to take out literally all of the important context, and he took the pedophile who was trying to ruin my life's word seriously.

I will not be on Twitter for quite a while after this, as I need to reflect on the terrible things I did to my friends which I still feel terrible about.

I know it's too early to be forgiven about this stuff, even if many of the actual people affected by me have forgiven me. I am not asking for forgiveness right away, but some day in the future, when I'm a better person, please give me at least a chance to redeem myself. I'm a dumb 16 year old who mishandled a pedo allegation and was a really shitty friend. Goodbye.