

TRIGGER WARNING: Grooming, Self-Harm, Gaslighting, Manipulation, Emotional Abuse

Half of my experience was told by my friend from the tweet, but I am going to fill in some stuff that was left out, or at least try to (writing isn't my specialty so I apologize in advance if my wording in this sucks...)

My experience with Six/Jewel dates back to Summer of 2020 (while we had never talked during that time, we were aware of each other's existence), and started talking as friends in Fall of 2020 (I was 12, he was 15 at the time). At first, the friendship was mutual. We got along greatly as friends and had fun telling our stories and character ideas/lore to each other (I was even the one who had to warn them about the Noah situation and how it wasn't okay). Then they had to abruptly leave in March of 2021, it wasn't until late April of 2021 when they had secretly "returned", However we had low contact slowly once I left for my hiatus in June 2021, and never really talked again until March of 2022.

On his 17th birthday, I had started dating Yoshidude834 (my first ex), but during our relationship, he would actively try to get in between me and Yoshi, flirting with me, and calling me nicknames. Eventually. He somehow got in my brain thinking it was okay to date two people at the same time as long as the other was okay with it (which Yoshi was). During our relationship, he would consistently sexualize me the whole time (I was 14 by then, just finishing middle school). He even went to the point of asking one time I would send him/Jewel nudes of myself or me in a sexy bikini outfit. I will admit, I never saw anything wrong with it at the time, but now looking as I am currently Six's age when he dated me, I would never in a million years try to ask a 14 year old or any minor those types of questions.

During September of 2022, Six did his usual suicide baiting on me after saying I should have chosen my love for him over my mother and another friend that I cared for, this was also during the time my family found out about my relationship with Six, and had expressed their concerns about how much of a dangerous guy he was. Because of this, we had to take a break from our relationship for a week, but immediately got back together a week later after behind my family's back. Afterwards, it was supposedly fine until they suddenly weren't in early November of 2022. Six was getting mad at something he wanted to do on a day I was very busy at a convention. When I got back, something in him snapped which caused me to fully depart FTWW. Then a week later, he started to guilt trip me into thinking I was the problem, until my mom stepped and noticed everything that was going on. That was the breaking point of making me realize Six was a terrible person, and I left him.

However, it didn't last forever as I did eventually go back to him on January 18th, 2023 out of pure guilt and brainwashed from his words back when I first left him, believing I was truly the one at fault during our entire relationship. He and the others also tried to secretly call me out behind my back, twisting the whole narrative on our relationship. Eventually, I had the courage to leave him again on March 18th, 2023 (as I was starting to only allow a select few of friends to keep my discord contact [as I was starting to limit the people who could talk to me there.] And even when I left him again, I didn't wish any bad blood on him nor the people he was friends with. Then, he decided to upload a (now deleted) journal, twisting the entire narrative about our entire relationship (even excluding all the times he had sexualized me, and asked for nudes once). He, Yoshi, and an anonymous person tried to openly guilt trip, destroy, and every bit of self confidence in myself, even trying to create a group chat with me and a friend of mine to be in just to humiliate me. It got me to almost leave the internet (if my friend and Luca had never reached out to help me get back up on my feet), and take my own life right in front of my mother.

Now in the present, the relationship still haunts me till this very day (even to the point I refuse to ever date anyone younger than me as I wish to never end up like him, along with never online dating again.), to those who had experienced something similar to what I and the other victims have, just know you are worthy, and loved. Do not let someone else take advantage of your rights as a person.

TL;DR: Jewel never existed, and Six is a grooming copycat who loves to toy with others emotions for his own benefit.