Good morning,

Thank you for confirming receipt of the Request for Production of Documents sent November 20. It does not appear that you have responded to my request that you supplement your initial disclosures or alternatively meet and confer with me regarding your failure to do so. Have I missed that? If so, please point me to your response. If not, please respond.

Best,

Sir,

No, you mischaracterized it as a lawsuit that I HAD FILED. You didn't mention to the Court that It was a motion opposing eviction. You made it seem like it was another complaint seeking money.

And I have received your documents. They will be replied to, given the length of time allowed to me by the FRCP

Good morning, Mr. Greer.

It appears you are under the misapprehension that an eviction case is not a lawsuit. To the contrary, an eviction case is a civil action filed by a landlord against a tenant. This email will serve as notice that eviction proceedings constitute a "case" or "proceeding" covered by our Request for Production of Documents sent November 20, 2024. You cannot exclude filings from any eviction proceedings when producing documents responsive to that request.

Additionally: I have not heard back from you with reference to my November 18 and 19 emails regarding your intention to either supplement/amend your initial disclosures, or alternatively meet and confer with me. Please advise which course of action you intend to take.

Best,
