I was so excited about this when you showed up in our room saying you wanted to get us a large donation. I could not have predicted that it would turn into this. I'm really not happy about any of this.

There are many worthy projects not engaging in scamming / harming people which you could have supported instead of CalyxOS. It's simply not going to be compatible with working with us.

I said I wouldn't attack Eron Wolf for donating money to them and I have no intention to do that especially since it's not his idea anyway. That doesn't mean I can work with someone who is supporting a group harming us and misleading people about what we provide, what they provide and especially in a way that harms users.

You may no consider it important for users to get the bare minimum of basic privacy/security updates and not to be misled about that, and the same for the basic Android security model, but I do.
