Discrimination

Explicit Discrimination

- Text that is clearly prejudiced towards people based on their race, religion, national origin, age, mental or physical disability, sexual orientation or gender identity including references to hate groups or slavery (master, owner, slaves, etc). References to hate groups and slavery is OK in a historical context e.g. "the Nazis lost the war". Note: "He is gay" is not explicit discrimination or mean language as it could be true. Additional context is needed to understand the intent.

Not Explicit Discrimination	Explicit Discrimination

Language

- Offensive language can be classified in 5 buckets.
 - Inappropriate language - child or sanitized version of strong language and profanity like poop and pee.
 - Mean Language - Language directed towards others that wishes ill will, attacks dignity, or is mean spirited. Note: "He is gay" is not mean language as it could be true. Additional context is needed to understand the intent.
 - Strong Language - Swear/curse words and derivatives created through abbreviations, misspellings, or letter substitutions.
 - Profanity - Handful of unacceptable words (fuck, cunt, pussy, cock) and derivatives created through abbreviations, misspellings, or letter substitutions.
 - Culturally sensitive - text related to race, religion or other sensitive topics that would be offensive to the people in a particular geographical region (North America for now).

Personal Information

- Personal information can be anything that can be used to identify a person, like account security information and information that is considered personally identifiable information (PII).

PII - Definition

- Personally identifiable information (PII) is information that can be used to identify or find you in real life or on other platforms.
- PII consists of
 - Full Name or last name (last names should be considered PII to prevent exposing a full name incrementally)

- Social Security Number (9 digit)
- Photograph/Video/Audio
- Physical Address
- geolocation information that could identify street name and city/town
- Email address or some other way to contact the user outside of the platform
- telephone number (either 7 or 10 digits)
- the name of a school
- credit card info (15/16 digits)
- IP address
- PII does not include
 - age of the player / birthday
 - the grade in school
 - ~~full names for well known fictional characters (Luke Skywalker, Harry Potter, Tony Stark, etc) or well known celebrities (Ariane Grande, Chris Evans, Jake Paul, Chris Pratt, etc)~~
 - The name of a city/town/etc is not PII unless it is accompanied by some more specific information like an address or some other location ("Meet me at the starbucks in San Mateo")
 - The state or country
 - The postal/zip code (5 digits or 5 digits hyphen and 4 more digits) by itself is not PII.

Providing PII

- Text where a user exposes information that can uniquely identify an individual including their name, phone, email address, physical location, etc. including celebrities and well known fictional characters. For celebrities and well known fictional characters, we will mark them as PII because it can be hard to determine what constitutes “well known” exactly.

Not Providing PII	Providing PII

- Text that contains the name(s) of Cinemark branded theaters (with misspellings)
 - cinemark
 - century theaters
 - rave cinemas
 - century theaters
 - century theater
 - rave cinema
 - rave motion pictures
 - tinseltown
 - tinsletown
 - cinamark

Flooding

- Words or lines of text that are repeated 4 or more times (single characters are fine)

Directions

- Read each line and determine which categories apply to the line of text. The text should be reviewed with a North American standard.
- A line of text can belong to multiple categories. It is important to mark all the categories that apply. The context of the line will help determine which categories it belongs to.

Text Categories

fuck Profanity. When used by itself, it seems like an expletive not a sexual term. To be used sexually would need things like "i want to " or "let's"
I want to fuck you profanity and sex
Fuck off Profanity and mean language. No sexual context

You are such an ass Mean and strong. No sexual context.
Ass Strong language and sex
He is gay Not mean, not explicit discrimination. It should not be labeled unless there is more context. This statement could be purely a statement of fact.

- If a word is misspelled but the misspelling has a real meaning, use the meaning of the typed word to determine the category
 - "Can you cum up here?" - This should be marked as sexual because "cum" has a sexual meaning
 - "Butt I'm sick" - This should be marked as inappropriate. It is not sexual in this case because there isn't any sexual context.
- If you do not know what some words mean, look them up on the internet. If after researching the words on the internet, the text is still not clear then do not mark any category.
- If a complete line of text is not English, then it should be marked as Not English and no category selected. If the line of text is mostly English, then mark the appropriate category.
- It is not necessary to go out of your way to find a problem, if one does not exist. ● If there is an appropriate and inappropriate usage of the word, how likely is our community using it in the innocent meaning vs the inappropriate meaning?
 - If the line of text only said "Aunt Jemima", do you think it is more likely that Roblox players are speaking about a syrup or a racial term?
 - If some text is referring to a local business, landmark, park, etc that is not well known, I would assume that the Roblox community is not talking about that unless there is some other signal in the text to clarify.
 - Ex - bourgee is the name of a few local restaurants in the UK. I would assume most Roblox players are not speaking about this restaurant and I would use the alternate definitions of the word

- Intentional censoring, misspellings, abbreviations and words that sound or look like other words should be considered to be the same as the intended word

Intentional Censoring	Misspellings Abbreviations/Acro nymssd	Words that sound or look like others
f*ck = fuck	Fvck = fuck WTF = what the fuck	Coq = cock

a## = ass	Sh!t = shit LMAO = laughing my ass off	faq you = fuck you
Mfer = mother fucker	Qunt = cunt GTFO = get the fuck out	A55 = ass
Sh!t = shit		Foek = fuck
		FUCK = fuck (these are not English characters. They only look like they are)

Note: Intentional censoring should contain some of the inappropriate word so that a reader can understand what the intent of the text is. "I want to ####" is OK because you don't know what that censored word is. It could be a swear or it could be something innocent like play.
