

TW: Mentions of r*pe

I didn't want to make this doc but I feel like I've been done so wrong that I can't stay silent... I'll be using the word allegedly a lot in my tweet to avoid any potential legal trouble because Gigi has threatened people with legal action if they were to reveal her true personality. I believe everything that I'm about to write to be true, though. I won't let her threats of legal action or her status scare me into being silent and I won't tolerate this level of disrespect towards my work or myself. Some names are censored because they wish to remain anonymous. I also had to leave out some screenshots and people's testimonies because they're afraid of being harassed, sued, or fired.

I'm sure you all know the owner of Dress to Impress, Gigi. I've never had a problem with her, nor did I think she had a problem with me, since she added me a few days after IT GIRL released. However, a couple of her ex-developers have reached out to me in the past few days and told me some things she's said about me and my game. According to her ex-developers, she allegedly has a group chat with her developers/friends where they have constantly spoken badly about my game, as well as myself. They weren't just petty little comments — there were some really vile things said, which is why I won't let this go.

The first and biggest claim I want to talk about, which is also the claim that drove me to write this, is that she allegedly told her group chat that if my game blew up she would frame me for being a rapist. When she said this in the group chat, her ex-developers had a negative reaction to this "joke", so she deleted the message.

And basically Gigi was so jealous and furious that she wanted to expose you for ~~rape~~, I sadly don't have the screenshots because she deleted her message immediately after she told us this and all the devs replied « ummm.... »

The second claim is that she allegedly wanted to DMCA my game for being a “copy”. I've never spoken publicly about this, but my game has been in development since last year, and my main inspiration was actually Nova City, formerly known as Suga Girlz. Another key inspiration for the bodies/clothing style was Royale High. DTI did NOT revolutionize using layered clothing in dress up games, so to call IT GIRL a copy is not fair because you can easily say the same thing about DTI and Fashion Famous...

Okay so basically I was working with Gigi for a while, we were really good friend but then some months agos she just became super petty and actually got very jealous of your game and greatness you and your game to DMCA because she thinks you're « copying » DTI and use the concept of the game to be famous

GIGI WANTS TO DMCA IT GIRL?

09/25/2024 11:31 PM

Gigi first started by joking around it then started to actually insult the game and planned to DMCA the game but she wasn't able because it's only just similar to the game and no actually a copy, she got so mad that she decided to expose you in the future if it girl becomes even more famous and more than DTI

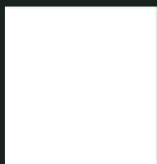

@sara~ GIGI WANTS TO DMCA IT GIRL?

09/25/2024 11:31 PM

Yeah she wanted

And other games too

09/25/2024 11:34 PM

She also shaded your game saying the faces where ugly/too big and saying some clothes were copied of DTI

09/25/2024 11:46 PM

I couldn't stand with her behavior saying it girl is shit and that you are copying her game or whatever

I actually stayed there for a moment because I needed money for irl reasons otherwise I just wanted to leave

I couldn't leave immediately because I wasn't able to Gigi has also done nothing to stop trolls from constantly hating on my game, which is something that I would do if I were in her shoes, but knowing what I know now, I understand why she never did, since the hate was also coming internally from her and her team. This is a bit aside from the point, but her game is consistently one of the top games on Roblox, so I don't understand why she felt threatened by a small game like mine. She admitted that this was the case in the apology she messaged me a few days ago.

otherwise. I was just very mad because I felt like my game was being copied, and I also saw TikTok videos shading Dress to Impress, which triggered me so much. But still, I know that's no excuse. I'm truly sorry for making those comments about your game, even if it was in private chats. It was never right. Now, I see that there's no need to feel threatened by other games.

Another one of her developers told me that she allegedly somehow got a photo of me and sent it in their group chat and that they were fat shaming me and making jokes about me breaking the floor. I don't have any pictures of me online so I instantly knew that they were bullying some random girl, but that still doesn't change the fact that they were trying to bully me for how I look. The ex-developers don't have screenshots of her behavior because she would delete the messages and they were also removed from the group chat where these conversations took place.

chowi Yesterday at 10:54 AM Gigi was smart and created a new general chat in the dev server and probated the other one
I can't retrieve information
But if u ask
ANY of the devs
they'd agree
and oh my god sara
I don't know if it was you
But a specific image of you
They were making fun of you aswell saying shit like the floors gonna break or something

chowi Yesterday at 10:55 AM but it was like
Picture of "you" standing
I front of a wooden fence?!?
I have no idea if it was you
But they said it was

One of the developers who reached out to me said if you asked any of her current developers, they could also testify that these things happened, but they probably won't and I understand that because DTI is a lot of people's livelihood.

For anyone who may be doubting whether these things were actually said, Gigi herself reached out to me and tried to send me an apology after there was a rumor spreading around that someone was going to release a doc about her. There are other people who have had issues with Gigi, but those docs were completely unrelated to me. I only decided to make this today. I feel like if she was truly sorry, she would've come to me ages ago and apologized for the way she acted.

Gigi Today at 10:33 AM

Hey @sara~, I'd like to deeply and sincerely apologize for all my comments about your game, and also my comments about you. I'm very, very, very sorry, and I shouldn't have said those things. Trust me, it was in the heat of the moment, and I would have never said it otherwise. I was just very mad because I felt like my game was being copied, and I also saw TikTok videos shading Dress to Impress, which triggered me so much. But still, I know that's no excuse. I'm truly sorry for making those comments about your game, even if it was in private chats. It was never right. Now, I see that there's no need to feel threatened by other games.

We've been friends on Discord since the release of my game, which was in July. So from July to September, she's had every chance to reach out to me and talk things out or apologize, but she chose to apologize only after learning that people wanted to expose her. That's why I believe her apology is disingenuous and is just an attempt at damage control. Either way, an apology just simply isn't enough to fix a situation like this.
